Introduction

Baby EverDoge is a community driven DeFi coin found on the Binance Smart Chain (BSC). The developers have combined the best aspects of other coins into one innovative protocol. The results are a unique and innovative coin with never before seen tokenomics.

The development team has focused on creating a professional protocol that will be backed by not only the strong contract, but also a strong community. This protocol addresses common issues found in other coins including a whale protection protocol (The Kraken), a buy-back and burn feature, and supporting the coin with marketing funds and redistribution to investors.

Baby EverDoge imposes an 11% tax on all transactions: 6% is stored for the buy-back protocol (the Kraken), 3% is for marketing, and 2% is redistributed to all investors. These percentages have been carefully chosen to promote growth and reward investors. Baby EverDoge brings a reliable coin to a world that needs it the most

What is Baby EverDoge?

Baby EverDoge is a coin that combines the positive aspects of successful buy-back tokenomics with a strong meme potential. When analyzing various tokens with buy-back protocols, their tokenomics seemed to be wildly successful. But the Baby EverDoge developers discovered a major flaw in the prevailing buy-back process.

Other coins with an auto buy-back feature recognize a sell and buy back a static, predetermined amount. The issue with this approach is that the buy-back feature does not adjust for the amount sold. As a result, the buy-back amount is the same regardless of whether the amount sold was $10,000 or $0.00001 in a single transaction. Snipers quickly took advantage of this with their bots by making multiple very small sales, triggering much larger buy-backs. In one instance, they used this exploit to trigger buy-backs of over 900 BNB.

What is Baby EverDoge?

The Baby EverDoge team has created an ingenious solution to this problem. The buy-back feature for Baby EverDoge is manually controlled, eliminating the loophole created by an auto buy-back protocol that was easily exploited by bots. The development team can monitor the progress of the coin and decide to implement the buy-back protocol manually when they see more sales than buys. They can then turn off this feature once the coin has stabilized again.

To encourage the growth of Baby EverDoge and to promote the growth of other solid coins in the BSC crypto space, Baby EverDoge will be developing an IDO Launchpad. This will assist in bringing new coins to the BSC market by providing a central location for them to raise funds, reach a larger market, and successfully launch.

Above all, the heart of the Baby EverDoge coin is the community. The team focuses on positive inclusivity instead of toxic exclusivity. They have cultivated a strong following across almost all social media platforms, including Telegram, Twitter, Reddit, and BTok. The development team has made themselves accessible and remain fully transparent to all members of the Baby EverDoge family.

About Us

Baby EverDoge started as an idea to create a coin that had a solid foundation built on trust and transparency. Solid tokenomics would offer a better solution than other bad coins out there. It took seed and grew from an idea to reality quicker than anyone could have imagined.

The Baby EverDoge team is composed of crypto traders with an abundance of experience and many different backgrounds. The team is set up similar to a business with tiers and departments.

While most members play multiple roles there is always a need for specialists. Baby EverDoge has members who specialize in contracts, marketing, business development, and social media. The hardest working members are those who are moderators across all social media platforms answering every question that comes their way with confidence.

This is not just another project. This is not just another meme coin. Too many coins and projects only count investors. Baby EverDoge is a family. The goal is to make gains for everyone. The development team knows that Baby EverDoge will be stamped in the crypto history books as the starting point of a new type of coin.

Values

Community

The family that has formed in the Baby EverDoge community has already surpassed most coins. The team has dedicated a large portion of their time to community development. This includes clear communication in marketing and future plans, transparency with the tokenomics, and creating a welcoming atmosphere to all who join. A member of the Baby EverDoge team can almost always be found in the Telegram group chat or even in the voice chat itself. Questions are encouraged because understanding the coin better results in stronger investors and a stronger community. This embodies the Baby EverDoge motto: One Family – Rising Together!

Trust

The entire team prides themselves on creating an atmosphere of trust for the community surrounding the coin. The goal is to create a successful coin where those who hold Baby EverDoge get great returns on their investments. To build the foundation of trust Baby EverDoge maintains a strong stance that every reasonable question be answered. The goal is that all investors should feel confident in the decisions of the development team.

Transparency

The key to community trust is transparency. Baby EverDoge is committed to remaining transparent with the community and always providing proof of what has been done in the development space. The contract is fully visible and liquidity will remain locked for the duration of the period dictated by investors and stakeholders alike.

The community is encouraged to ask any questions and the Baby EverDoge team will always respond with respect and honest, transparent answers to address these questions.

Tokenomics

The Baby EverDoge tokenomics have a foundation in the familiar deflationary model, but with some key improvements that help avoid red candles resulting from botting attacks seen on other tokens. An 11% tax is applied to every buy and sell. From this tax 3% is for marketing, 2% is redistributed to investors, and 6% is set aside for the manual buy-back protocol. This wallet is called the Kraken

The Kraken

The Kraken is the name of the secret sauce that sets this coin apart from its predecessors. It collects the 6% tax from all transactions. This amount accumulates and will only be used to buy back Baby EverDoge coins. Once the coins are bought using what has been stored in the Kraken, those coins are then burned forever. The development team has made it clear to the community that the BNB stored in the Kraken will ONLY be used to initiate the buy-back protocol.

IDO Launchpad

With the amount of poorly designed or just plain bad coins launching, Baby EverDoge is dedicated to providing a launchpad for new coins that investors can be confident with. By being selective and ensuring all launched coins have been audited internally and externally, the investors participating can be confident in these projects from the start.

Any project can request an IDO launch or presale, but only those that meet the high standards Baby EverDoge expects will be chosen before being introduced to the Baby EverDoge family. These projects will have to pass external and internal audits and be sound. Although it is impossible to eliminate every risk, we will take all necessary steps to ensure they are reduced as much as possible.

To participate in a launch on the Baby EverDoge IDO Launchpad users must hold Baby EverDoge coins. A tier system will be created with those holding higher amounts of the coin having more access and perks. Baby EverDoge will also partner with other coins in the future allowing for some launches to require the user to hold one or both of required coins.

A percentage of BNB/BUSD raised will be taxed and automatically fed into the Kraken and marketing wallets of Baby EverDoge. This ensures that Baby EverDoge and the launchpad can continue to grow and improve offerings.
